

Leadership, Management and Mentoring

An important factor underpinning the improvement of patient care across the NHS is effective leadership and management – two interconnected skills that are required at every level, by staff in all kinds of roles. Healthcare practitioners require the knowledge to not only organise teams and locate areas of improvement, but also to offer leadership to students and other colleagues, as well as developing their own careers.

We have provided a list of relevant articles from MA Healthcare journals dealing with this area, thereby providing your staff with research, information and tips that will support both their work and the quality of care for their patients.
